Expert's Certificate in Interculturality

Justice and Global Change

Employing various theoretical perspectives on interculturality this University Expert course seeks to train professionals to identify and analyse in depth major contemporary phenomena and challenges related to cultural globalization processes. Students will acquire tools to design intercultural social, geographical, political, linguistic, pedagogical, existential and development projects, promoting the decolonisation of knowledge. This course also intends to act as a meeting point between different cultures, and a forum for reflection and debate for graduates from different disciplines. We encourage students from all socioeconomic backgrounds to apply.

Teaching Languages: Spanish, English and French (active knowledge of at least one of the three languages)

Spaces available: 50
